CHURCHILL CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

British Bombers Take Initiative In Air Struggle

Pound Nazi "Invasion Bases" On Continental
Coast; Near Berlin

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS With RAF bombers carrying the weight of the British attack on the German invasion bases on the French coast today, Prime Minister Churchill
said the British were confident of victory.

The longer it lasts, he said, the more rapid will be our approach towards parity and then to superiority in the air.
Churchill said he must reject a proposal for President Hoover for the United States to supply the British with supplies of American food stuffs to German-occupied France, Belgium and Holland because it would only prolong the struggle of all Europe.

The British premier simultaneously reiterated that Britain's "new production" of airplanes now exceeds that of Germany.

Churchill said Britain would maintain its rigid blockade of Germany, Italy, France and every other country that has fallen into the hands of Germany.

Prime Minister Churchill said the coming winter, he said, could only result from "German failure to distribute the supplies they command."

Council Votes Bridge Repairs Costing $6,000

Deep Holes Worn In Piers Of Washington
Avenue Structure

A resolution appropriating $6,000 of the city's share of state motor fuel taxes for improvements to piers of the Washington avenue bridge was voted at the city council meeting Monday night. Over a period of years the river has worn deep holes in the base of the concrete structure.

Sponsored by Alderman David Wood, the project includes installation of 8-inch reinforced concrete jackets on certain piers with others to be reinforced by cement forced into the holes under pressure.

Whether to park angle or parallel to the curb. That is a question motorists on West Coast street apparently may decide for themselves as a result of last night's meeting.

Report Many Obstacles In Path Of American Defense Plans

Washington, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Tax uncertainties, a profit limitation and competitive buying, including that of the British, were reported today as obstacles to the navy's procurement of materials for shipbuilding.

The report came from Rear Admiral W. R. Furlong, who made it to the senate appropriations committee during testimony on a $5-200,000 supplemental defense bill which the committee approved yesterday.

In another sphere of defense activity, the house military committee, meanwhile, gave its tentative approval to the registration for military service of men from 18 to 64.
inclusive.

The committee has been working on a draft bill while the senate debated another version reported recently by its military committee.
The senate version calls for registration of men from 21 through 30.
The committee's action did not mean necessarily that the bill which it will report out in a few days will call for 18 through 64 registration but that was considered likely on the basis of today's action.

Cartridge-Filling Building At DuPont Plant Wrecked; 4 Dead

Gibbstown, N. J., Aug. 20.—(AP)— Four men were killed today in an explosion that wrecked a cartridge-filling building at the DuPont company's Repauno dynamite plant, shook buildings over a wide area and shattered windows five miles distant.

Approximately 1,200 pounds of dynamite let go in a cartridge-filling house, one of the last operations in the manufacture of dynamite. The building, a wooden structure 20 by 30 feet enclosed on all sides by an earthen barricade, was destroyed.

A DuPont spokesman, announcing the toll, said at Wilmington, Del., that other buildings were damaged, killed and no other employees injured by the blast.

The four killed:
Lowell Woodall, 34, unmarried, Gibbstown.

Hitler's Successes Thus Far
Due Greatly To 5th Columnist

The following is the second of a series of articles made public by the German government, as part of the national defense program. Colonel Donovan returned recently from a mission abroad, on behalf of Secretary Knox. He wrote these articles in collaboration with Edgar Mowrer, distinguished foreign correspondent.

By Colonel William J. Donovan and Edgar Mowrer

When all allowance has been made for Hitler's superior armies, his resourcefulness, his daring, and the vital assistance by German soldiers within the victim countries, his success can only be explained by one other factor. This is nothing less than the presence among his enemies of what, since the Spanish civil war, has been known as the "fifth column."

Since no country has ever been unanimous, a "fifth column" has existed potentially in every land in every war. But despite or totalitarian countries ruthlessly suppress it at home while exploiting it elsewhere. It is in a democracy that the "fifth column" can function most freely and effectively.

It remained for Adolf Hitler's genius to raise the creative structuring organization and activity of the "fifth column" in the countries that opposed him to a decisive weapon.

He said more or less openly that he would do so.

"We need armies, but we shall not use them in 1914. The place of the army will be in the future by revolutionary propaganda, to break down the enemy psychologically before the army begins to function at all. The enemy people must be demoralized and paralyzed before military action can even be thought of. Mental confusion, indecisiveness, panic, these are our weapons. The history of revolutions... is always the same. The ruling classes capitulate. Why? Defeatism. They no longer have the will to conquer."

Propaganda Machine

The propaganda machine for creating and sustaining a "fifth column," again according to Hitler's confessed theory... is of a double nature. On one side it aims at influencing the masses. For this purpose Hitler in the present war utilizes his radio stations, Lord Hawhaw for the English, Ferdinand for the French, and to some extent, particularly in the past two years, Goebbels agitators who have been corrupted into serving him. For the results he had a much more subtle bait. As he himself put it: "The results at which I aim are only to be obtained by the systematic corruption of the possessing and governing classes. Business advantages, erotic satisfactions and ambition, are the three main steps in our propaganda organ."

How did this work in the various countries?

In the bloodless conquest of Austria, "fifth column" Austrian leaders like Seyss-Inquart, dupes like Guido Schmidt, played a decisive part. While the discontent of the masses was whipped up to enthusiasm in favor of Nazi Germany, agents like Franz von Papen skillfully convinced leading Austrians that only through Hitler could their secret aspirations be fulfilled.

The Slovaks, who had suffered their bondage under Hungary, could be duped. But Czechs and Poles could not. Both peoples had lived far too long cheek to jowl with Prussians to have the slightest doubt as to Hitler's real intentions. There was no strong "fifth column" among the Czechs and Poles; a few Czech Agrarians, the former Polish Foreign Minister Josef Beck. The Czechs finally were conquered by French betrayal and British selfishness. The Poles by the armed might of a nation three or four times as strong.

In Norway there is little doubt but that "fifth column" activities contributed to the success of the German blitz attack and were responsible for the quick collapse of an organized resistance. Major and former National Defense Minister Quisling had been, if not actually in the pay of German Nazis, at least in contact with them for years. His access to the King of Norway in the back can be traced (a) To the fear of Socialism carefully fostered among leading Norwegians by Nazi propaganda and (b) To the fact that numerous appointments to high army commands had been made by Quisling's intimate friend.

COALT DISNEY-

United States Preparing To Sell Its "Model Townships"

By WILLIAM PINKERTON
Washington, Aug. 20 — (AP) — The apron strings that tie three model communities to the federal government may be cut this winter.

The Farm Security Administration is working with citizens of its three "greenbelt" towns toward the final step in putting the low-cost housing developments "on their own."

The FSA, still "landlord" to the model towns, hopes by December to sell them either to local housing authorities or to non-profit corporations representing local interests.

The three towns—Greenbelt, Md. (near the capital), Greendale, Wis. (near Milwaukee), and Greenhills, O. (near Cincinnati)—now have local self-government. City managers run Greendale and Greendale, the citizens electing a council which lays down policy. Greenhills is run by a mayor and council.

The towns' citizens also have a say in the management of many local enterprises, which are organized as cooperatives.

The government's desire to turn the towns loose on the real estate side is explained partly as a move to fit the communities more closely into the life of their states and counties. Being adjuncts of the federal government, it was said, tended to set the "greenbelt" towns apart from their neighbors as different.

The FSA hopes to work out a plan under which the local group either will rent all the houses of the town from the federal government, or will buy the town property on a long-term sales arrangement.

Because of their unusual design, their traffic-free park areas, underpasses and other "model" features, the three towns have attracted many visitors. Officials estimate that from 5,000 to 12,000 persons visit Greenbelt, for instance, every Sunday.

FSA officials say the model towns have given an impetus to similar developments by private capital, and point to such undertakings as Parkhurst homes in Brooklyn, N. Y., and the factory village of the Glenn Martin company near Baltimore.

Explains To Chief

Called to the White House after he aroused a storm of criticism by remarks on conditions in Belgium, he was reported to have made during a press conference in London John Cuddey, U. S. ambassador to Belgium, as pictured as he arrived to see President Roosevelt. Following conferences with the chief executive and Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, Cuddey was absolved of any blame, which was placed on the British press for "misquoting" him.
